Join us in Adelaide/Tarntanya, South Australia, from 1–4 December 2026 for the Australian Archaeological Association (AAA) Annual Conference, the premier gathering of archaeologists from across Australia and the broader region.

Held at the Adelaide Convention Centre, the AAA2026 Conference will bring together 500+ delegates for four days of presentations, papers, posters, meetings, workshops and social events. The conference provides an important forum for researchers, heritage professionals, students, Traditional Owners and industry representatives to share knowledge, discuss emerging challenges and showcase the latest developments in archaeological research and practice.

The 2026 conference theme, “We Remember – Stories from the Past, Visions for the Future”, invites participants to reflect on the role archaeology plays in understanding and remembering the past while shaping future approaches to heritage, research and community engagement. The program will highlight diverse perspectives, innovative methodologies, and the evolving responsibilities of archaeologists working with cultural heritage across Australia and beyond.

Your sponsorship of the AAA2026 Conference supports the continued growth and strength of the archaeological community. Sponsorship contributions help provide opportunities for First Nations peoples, students and emerging archaeologists to participate in the conference, build professional networks, and contribute to important discussions about the future of the discipline.

We are seeking sponsors who share our commitment to:

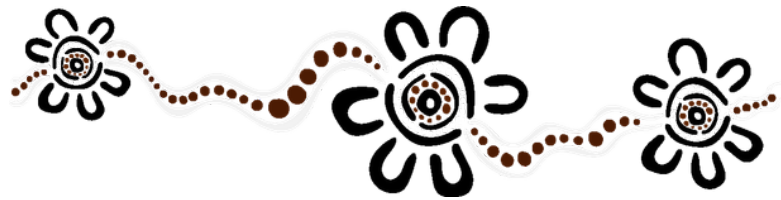

- Advancing archaeological knowledge and research across Australia and the region.
- Promoting ethical archaeological practice and best-practice heritage management.
- Recognising and supporting First Nations peoples as custodians of cultural heritage.
- Encouraging collaboration and knowledge-sharing across academia, industry, and communities.
- Raising awareness of the importance of protecting and conserving archaeological sites and cultural heritage.

The Australian Archaeological Association and the AAA2026 Conference Committee appreciate your consideration in supporting this important event and helping to strengthen the future of archaeology and heritage practice across Australia.
